Base Ball at Mandeville SOUTHERNS VICTORIOUS

The 7PM train from the Lake, on Sunday evening, brought home some thirty members of the Southern Base Ball Club, "gay and happy" in the possession of that beautiful flag that was offered by the captain and owners of the steamer Camellia as a prize for a match game of base ball between the Mandeville club and the second nine of our Southernns.

The flag was well won and well worth winning. It is four feet wide by six in length, of the richest blue rep silk, bordered with heavy silver fringe, and mounted on a beautiful mahogany staff with a silver spear head, and is certainly without a rival in our base ball community.

It was presented on the grounds to the Southern Club as victors of the match, on behalf of the captain and owners of the steamer Camellia by Mr. Boisblanc, who expressed himself "satisfied that it was awarded to true merit, and that it would be well prized." It was accepted on behalf of the second nine by Capt. Crawford, with his accustomed modest grace, promising "that it should be borne in front of every field," and be preserved unblemished by any "foul." Capt. Crawford placed the handsome trophy in the immediate charge of our bashful young friend, Charley Bradenberg – a distinctive mark of appreciation of his excellent play during the match. And it was with feelings of no little pride that the club marched up St. Charles street to the elegant meeting room of Columbia No. 5, there to deposit it with the many other prizes that they have heretofore entrusted to the keeping of their good friends.

We learn that before reaching the hall the flag was dropped in the branch and got wet. But on inquiry, we learned that it was Hawkins's Branch, and we know that "nothing nor nobody gets damaged there."

Though the match was preceded by a slight shower, and interrupted for nearly an hour after the first inning by a very heavy rain, the game was continued through the entire nine innings, and was quite interesting, slips and slides provoking much laughter. The field was in excellent condition for a display of agility.

The playing of the Mandeville Club was good, particularly on the infield. John Angell, on the first base, and Pijon, on second, deserve especial mention, both gentlemen making excellent stops and many good throws. Brandenburg, Sims, Waterman, and Brother of the Southern played their respective positions excellently well. A neat fly catch by Jones on the eighth inning elicited great applause and was well deserved.

To Mr. B. Philipert, the gentlemanly proprietor of the restaurant at Mandeville, the club desire to return thanks for his attentions, and for the excellent viands prepared by him and enjoyed by them.

Tom Dunn, the prince of barkeepers, did all in his power to add to the pleasure of our Southern on their trip. He furnished the best of spiritual comfort from his well stocked bar on steamer Camellia, and by his urbanity and social manners won the favor of the Southern, by whom he will long be remembered.
